President's Corner

By the time you all read this, we will be finished with LWV/ABC's portion of the Immigration Consensus. It was an interesting experience and it will also be interesting to see the outcome when the process is completed by LWVUS in a few months. Thank you to all the facilitators—Josephine Porter, Dolores Waller, JoAnne Ramponi, Dee Watkins, Olin Bray, Dick Mason and Lisa Franzen—and to the recorders—Susanne Burks, Meg Wente and Therese Barts—who made it possible. This is a complex and emotional issue, and we will have to see if our national organization can arrive at a consensus on all the questions before us.

As you read this issue of the Voter, you will see that the first half of December is full of League activities. I hope that many of you will be able to participate in these activities, beginning with a true League weekend. Program Planning, the time when members have a chance to give their suggestions about League program, will take place on the morning of December 1 at La Vida Llena. It's also a social event with "goodies" to eat. The reception to be held on the afternoon of December 2 will provide an opportunity for our members who are residents of Bernalillo County to meet their city councilors and/or county commissioners. If all goes well, we will try to do the same kind of event again in a few months for our members who are residents of Sandoval County.

It has been a few years since LWV/ABC has put on a lobbying workshop, and great interest has been expressed in the one scheduled for December 8. It is part of our Community Education Series, a series aimed at providing educational programs for the community at large. The general meeting on December 13 will feature Dr. David Schmidly, the new president of the University of New Mexico, speaking on the future of our state's largest educational institution.

I hope there is enough going on in December to satisfy our membership. Your fellow members have worked hard. Please join us for any or all of these events, and best wishes to you all for the holiday season.

Diane

December 1 Program Planning — What is Program Planning?

According to the LWVUS handbook, In League, "program" is the League's "reason for being." It is the basis for both education and action. League program consists of those governmental issues that League members have chosen for concerted study and action. It includes both adopted positions on which action is taken and issues for study that may lead to a position and action.

On December 1st we will review our local program. Committee chairs will make recommendations and we will discuss ideas that local members have for League program. If you want to recommend a specific study, you should also be prepared to provide leadership for that study.

Remember to bring your Member Handbook which has current national, state and local positions and the list of League Principles which provide authorization for adoption of program. Third Vice-President Dick Mason will lead the discussion.

Change in Program Planning Meeting Place: This year Program Planning will take place at La Vida Llena, 10501 Lagrima de Oro NE.

COME AND BRING A FRIEND!

Don't miss this great opportunity to meet your Albuquerque City Councilors and Bernalillo County Commissioners at LWV/ABC's December 2nd reception. Directions to the location of the reception, 1618 Harvard Dr. NE, are as follows: from I-40, take the Carlisle exit and go South on Carlisle; turn right (west) onto Indian School; after the light at Girard, take the 3rd left onto Harvard; 1618 is the third house on the left. For help, call 266-2081 or 453-1564.

LOBBYING WORKSHOP

Reservations for the December 8 Lobbying Workshop may be made by calling the League office, 884-8441. The workshop is free for members and $10 for nonmembers (scholarships are available). Space is limited so make your reservations right away. If you need more information, call Donna Hill at 797-4690.

SOME PLAIN FACTS ABOUT PAIN

- 76.2 million people are in pain; up from 50 million (1)
- More Americans are affected by pain than are affected by diabetes, heart disease and cancer combined (1)
- Uncontrolled pain is a leading cause of disability, not to mention diminished quality of life (1)
- Under-treated pain is estimated to cost $100 billion annually in healthcare expenses, lost income and lost productivity, extending length of hospital stays, as well as increasing emergency room trips and unplanned clinic visits. (2)
- More than half of all hospitalized patients experienced pain in the last days of their lives. (3)

Progress has been made in New Mexico through legislative action. Specifics of the steps by year will be available soon on the lwvabc.org website.

Presently there are two bills in Congress to raise awareness and "tackle barriers to pain management." In February you will have an opportunity to indicate your views on reducing the barriers to pain management.

DRUG POLICY CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE IMPROVING ACCESS AND TREATMENT EFFECTIVENESS THROUGH EDUCATION

Background Information:

1. Federal drug policy has had the unintentional consequence of restricting patients' access to pain treatment. The federal Controlled Substances Act regulates the use of most effective and sometimes the only effective medications for the treatment of some pain. New Mexico law also regulates the use of controlled substances. State law can be more restrictive.
2. The Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) interprets the Controlled Substances Act. This interpretation has resulted in fear of prosecution and lack of adequate patient treatment through misunderstandings and different points of view. New Mexico has been able to regulate/legislate standards of pain treatment not yet considered by the DEA. Understanding the protective aspects for prescribing providers is incomplete.
3. Improving this understanding in 2008 is a project of the New Mexico Pain Initiative Group, a coalition of local people and organizations including LWV/ABC.

The real work of change begins locally with each of us. In the next two months, check out your understanding of pain management options and how to get what you need through the Drug Policy Study Committee.

Next Drug Policy Study Committee Meeting:

Date: Thursday, December 27, 1:00-3:00 p.m.

Location: Manzano del Sol
5201 Roma NE

Topics:

1. Facts about marijuana and methamphetamine
2. Updating on funding legislation in 2008

COMMUNICATIONS 101: Educating the Community and Attracting Members.

Very few Americans—except for League members—know that we, the public, own the airwaves, and that by a contract with the City of Albuquerque, Comcast Cable is required to provide free community access.

Recently, on local Channel 27, our present and former presidents Diane Goldfarb and Josephine Porter moderated live and on camera City Council District Election Forums. Cheryl Haaker was timekeeper. Many thanks go to the gracious volunteers who ushered and assisted with attendance and audience questions: Don Goldfarb, Marilyn Morgan, JoAnne Ramponi, Barbara Shiller, Mary Smith, Dolores Waller, Karen and Steve Wentworth, and Helen Wright.

Not many Albuquerqueans know that anyone who lives in our fair city can become a TV producer. It is simple. LWV/ABC could produce our own TV programs featuring the number of well-informed specialists-in-their-field drawn to our general meetings. Even our units, with the permission of those present, could be videotaped and edited [or not] for redistribution across the community. This is a no-cost way to reach more voters.

Studio training is available at $65 per person for three evening sessions. However, should a team of LWV/ABC members want to become activists, host, and produce programs, a discount may be requested. Airtime and equipment are available at no additional cost.

Field training should also be explored. Once training is completed, the member may borrow videotaping equipment on a first-request, first-served schedule to record any of the League's meetings or forums where information from prominent speakers can be shared with the larger audience. Full or half hour, live or taped programs may be scheduled weekly, monthly, and even bimonthly. Reader, please call Judith Binder at 265-4336 for details.

BUY ENTERTAINMENT BOOKS THROUGH DECEMBER 14

Time is running out, but it is not too late to purchase 2008 Entertainment Books at the League Office. The $35.00 price of each book brings you over 700 savings possibilities — for carry-out food (buy one, freeze one), fine dining, dry cleaning, detailing specials for your car, lowest prices for hotel stays, car rentals and more!

Guests for the holidays? Lend them your book for admissions to museums for both adults and children. Included are coupons for restaurants that appeal to kids. If the visitors live in New Mexico, give them their own Entertainment Book.

Every Book purchased is also your holiday gift to your local League. When sales reach 40 books, 20% profit on each sale adds dollars to the Operating Fund. That is $7.00 on each book sold. Please don't wait to come in. Books not sold by December 14 will be shipped back to the distributor. Pick up your Books at the League office, 2403 San Mateo NE, W-16C, during morning office hours. If you need additional information, call Donna Hill at 797-4690.

A HISTORY OF REAPPORTIONMENT AND REDISTRICTING IN NEW MEXICO

Submitted by the LWVNM Fair Representation Committee

Redistricting in the United States comes from authority in Article 1, Section 2 of the US Constitution and Section 2 of the Fourteenth Amendment. The Constitution specifies that the decennial Census shall provide the statistical basis for state-drawn congressional district lines. These formulas will allow states to set local redistricting measures and many allocations of state revenues and federal funds.

In April 2010, the US Department of Commerce and its Census Bureau will begin the census, which must be completed within nine months and reported to the President by December 31 of the census year. Starting with 435 Representatives and each state being guaranteed at least one, the remaining 385 seats are reapportioned among the states. This is accomplished through the use of a mathematical formula provided by federal statute known as the “method of equal proportions,” which is recalculated every ten years following the federal census. Based on census results and this mathematical formula, New Mexico’s population did not increase sufficiently in proportion to other states between 1990 and 2000 to warrant the addition of a fourth congressional district, but it may by 2010.

By April 1, 2011, the US Census Bureau will release the 2010 census of the population of New Mexico and the New Mexico Legislature will be faced with the task of redistricting its own house and senate seats along with districts for the Public Regulation Commission, the State Board of Education, selected magistrate courts, and, of course, the state’s congressional districts.

Shifts in population may see residents moved into new districts: some sections of the state may lose political control and the power of the legislature may move from one party to another or from one political philosophy to another.

Redistricting means redrawing the boundaries of voting districts to reflect population changes. Unlike reapportionment—a mathematical process—redistricting is a political process in which there is discretion as to where new boundaries are placed.

Since 1962 the US Supreme Court has ruled that legislative and congressional redistricting cases are subject to review by the Courts. Over time, this review has focused on two major areas, the population of districts and the dilution of voter strength in minority districts. These actions are meant to protect the concept of one person-one vote, meaning that, as nearly as is practical, one voter’s choice is equal to any other.

While the population of congressional districts must be as nearly equal as possible, more lenient standards exist for state legislative redistricting, with the Court ruling that state legislative districts need not be precisely equal in population. In the New Mexico Legislature, each of the 70 representatives and 42 senators should represent as nearly as possible the same number of citizens, ideally with no more than a 5% difference between the largest district and the smallest.

To protect the one person-one vote concept, it is critical that state redistricting officials develop a nonpartisan plan for reporting census tabulations. This requirement may seem non-controversial, but significant controversy has often emerged. Issues in the 1960’s over ethnic and racial discrimination led Congress to pass the Voting Rights Act of 1965, yet as late as in the 1990 and 2000 census, complaints were filed, involving undercounted minority populations and the use of statistical sampling techniques.

New Mexico entered the Union in 1912 with a well-apportioned Legislature but did not reapportion itself following the 1920, 1930 and 1940 censuses, resulting in an unbalanced state legislature. A 1949 constitutional amendment deleted the authority of the legislature to apportion itself and gave authority to the counties. In 1955 another constitutional amendment increased the size of the House to 66 members apportioned by population except that each county, no matter how small, was to receive at least one representative. The result was that 14% of the state's population could elect a Senate majority and 27%, a House majority; 11 of the 32 counties had populations under 10,000 but each had its own senator and representative. In 1960, the New Mexico Senate was the fourth most mal-apportioned in the country and the New Mexico House, the eighth most mal-apportioned. In 1976, the people of New Mexico adopted amendments that included the language "The Legislature may by statute reapportion its membership (Art. IV, Sec. 3, D).

New Mexico has caught the eye of Congress with our constitutional provisions being declared unconstitutional and in violation of the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. To address Native American and Hispanic issues, Congressional amendments were passed in 1975 which expanded the scope of the law beyond race and color to include members of language minority groups in jurisdictions in which more than 5 percent of the voting age citizens belonged to a single language minority and in which printed election materials were available only in the English language.

In the 1980s, a "votes cast" formula, based on estimated population derived from the vote for governor at the previous general election, showed significant differences with census figures, violating the one person-one vote principle, and great effort was required to remedy this concept. In the 1990s, due to extensive preparation, public hearings, participation in the Census Bureau's census redistricting data program, and setting and carefully following redistricting guidelines, New Mexico conducted its decennial redistricting without any involvement in litigation for the first time in over 30 years. Preparation for the 2000 census began in 1995 to allow census data supplied to the state to match actual precincts being used for redistricting.

We highly recommend two interesting articles that discuss redistricting in New Mexico in more detail. A Guide to State and Congressional Redistricting in New Mexico 2001, prepared by the New Mexico Legislative Council Service, is available at <http://legis.state.nm.us/LCS/lcsdocs/reddocs/134250.pdf> and also linked on the League's Fair Representation web page, <http://www.lwvabc.org/fair/>. New Mexico Reapportionment, 1982 by Hain, Garcia and Anderson is on the League's Fair Representation page. These sources were used in preparing this article.

The League's two- year study is just underway. Look for a growing body of information that will help us understand "the Big Picture" and to advocate for approaches which will continue to help eliminate costly and time consuming litigation while representing all New Mexicans fairly.
