Questions:

- Q1. Why do you want to run for this seat?
- Q2. What are the most important issues facing Congress in the next two years?
- Q3. How would you address them?
- Q4. What actions, if any, should Congress take regarding immigration?
- Q5. What, if anything, would you do to improve the functioning of Congress?

United States Senator

This person represents New Mexico in the United States Senate. The Senate has 100 members, two from each state. Candidates must be at least 30 years old, a citizen of the United States for at least nine years, and a resident of the state from which elected. Senators are elected statewide for staggered six-year terms. One New Mexico seat is up for election in 2024.

Martin Heinrich

Democratic

A1: As your Senator, we've passed legislation to deliver unprecedented investments for our children, our working families, and our seniors in New Mexico. Because of these investments, we've begun to see costs for things like groceries and prescription drugs go down and our economy grow, I'm running for reelection to the Senate because we still have more work to do, from tackling climate change to expanding access to health care to ensure that every New Mexican has the opportunity to thrive.

A2: If reelected, my priorities will be to grow rural economies, reduce costs for New Mexico families, raise workers' wages, expand access to health care, protect the rights of workers, and tackle climate change while creating high-quality jobs.

A3: We should build on the Inflation Reduction Act, Infrastructure Law, and CHIPS and Science Act that we've passed into law and New Mexico is starting to feel the impacts of. The Inflation Reduction Act is bringing jobs to rural New Mexico, especially in clean energy manufacturing. The Inflation Reduction Act also lowered costs for prescriptions for seniors on Medicare and is making health insurance more affordable. The Infrastructure Law is bringing billions of dollars to New Mexico to rebuild roads, bridges, and energy infrastructure, and the CHIPS Act is bringing thousands of good paying jobs to expand manufacturing and strengthen our national security. Now it's time to ensure every New Mexican can access the benefits of these historic laws.

A4: We need solutions, not political stunts. We need to tackle the huge backlog of lawful immigration, so it doesn't take years for a person's paperwork to be processed. And we need to invest in smart border security technology that detects and stops drugs like fentanyl before they get into our communities. We need to staff and support the law enforcement agencies at our border that are helping to maintain our national security and efficiently process cross-border trade with our largest trade partner, Mexico. We need more pathways for skilled immigrants eager to fill labor shortages in industries with severe workforce shortages, like agriculture and health care. And we need to finally ensure DREAMers have a swift path to full citizenship.

A5: Congress should pass legislation to get dark money out of our elections and give the American people transparency into who is attempting to influence their votes. Additionally, the Senate should end the filibuster to prevent a single Senator from disrupting the Democratic process and ensure working people in America have a real seat at the table in Washington.

Nella Louise Domenici

Republican

The candidate has not yet responded.

United States Representative District 3

This person represents New Mexico in the United States House of Representatives. The House has 435 members elected from districts based on population. New Mexico is entitled to three members. Candidates must be at least 25 years old, a United States citizen for seven years, and must be a resident of New Mexico. Representatives are elected by district for a two-year term.

Sharon E. Clahchischillige

Republican

A1: There is a lack of representation in preserving the voice and livelihood of New Mexico constituents from out of touch politicians and failed leadership,

A2: Inflation, over regulation, decline of quality education, affordable and available health services, effective land management, water and agricultural advocacy and the funnel orchestrated by the progressive agenda, at the border.

A3: Advocate for minimizing over regulation, shutting down the border, and only allowing for strict, vetted legal immigration. This will stop illegal human and drug trafficking that are destroying New Mexico's communities.

A4: Address the laws regarding the border and enforce them.

A5: Win the Congressional District 3 election! Encourage congressional members to minimize their obsessions with personal agendas and concentrate on addressing the needs of their constituents.

Teresa Leger Fernandez

Democratic

A1: Jeremiah 29:11 tells us that God's plan is for us to prosper, have hope and a future. My job in Congress is to help create that prosperity, hope and future for NM by creating opportunity and investing in hard-working families. I'm running for reelection because I want to continue to fight for our communities. In Congress, I have secured billions in funding for infrastructure, broadband, manufacturing; millions for community projects, including clean water projects; invested the most in rural America since the New Deal; passed the largest climate investments in U.S. history, and lowered prescription drug prices. I represent New Mexicans, regardless of party, and I know that together we can build a prosperous, hopeful future for us all.

A2: We must expand access and bring down energy and health care costs. We must address income inequality where the wealthiest CEOs and corporations don't pay their fair share. We must make housing affordable so our families can live in the communities they love. We also face a grave threat to our democracy as the Republican presidential candidate has denied election results, proclaimed he would be a dictator on day one, and would seek revenge on political opponents. We must protect women's freedom to reproductive health care. Women need health care, not handcuffs. We must also address Social Security to ensure the promise we have made to working Americans who have paid into the system is kept for generations to come.

A3: I'd lower healthcare costs by expanding prescription drug caps, increasing access to healthcare in rural NM, and strengthening the Affordable Care Act. The wealthiest and corporations must pay their fair share and we must make the Child Tax Credit permanent. I've introduced a Home Of Your Own Act and funded homeownership programs for NM. To protect democracy and voting rights we must pass the John Lewis Voting Rights Act and the key provisions in it I authored for tribal voters. I cosponsored the Women's Health Protection Act and will fight Republicans' attempt to enact a federal abortion ban. I cosponsored Social Security 2100, which would have the wealthiest pay Social Security taxes, increase benefits, and keep the program solvent.

A4: We need to reform our broken immigration system, which includes strengthening the security of our borders and providing a pathway to citizenship for Dreamers and law-abiding undocumented workers currently in our country. Reforming our immigration system would be a $1.3 trillion dollar benefit to the US economy. My first year in Congress the House passed on a bipartisan basis the American Dream and Promise Act and the Farm Worker Modernization Act, and the No Ban Act to prohibit discrimination on the basis of religion. Sadly, extreme Republicans blocked these bipartisan measures and recently House Republicans and Trump killed another bipartisan border deal. We need solutions not political maneuvering on this important issue.

A5: I was trained as a rebellious lawyer. Which means, I was trained to listen. I have taken this with me to Congress - where I both bring the voices and learnings of our NM communities and do the work to listen to my colleagues and find common ground where possible. The more we listen to each other, the more I believe we can get done. The vast majority of the legislation I have introduced and passed in the House and into law was bipartisan. Fundamentally, though - we also must recognize that the functioning of our Congress is tied to our access to democracy. We must protect and reform our democracy and ensure that every single eligible voter can access the ballot box. That is how we ensure that our democracy works for all of us.

NEW MEXICO LEGISLATURE

State Senator

In addition to other duties prescribed by law, senators enact "reasonable and appropriate laws," represent the constituents of their district, and serve on standing or interim committees. The legislature meets each year beginning in January. In odd-numbered years, it meets for 60 days; in even-numbered years, it meets for 30 days. The Governor may call special sessions. Candidates must be at least 25 years old and must be a resident of the district from which elected. They serve a four-year term. Senators do not receive a salary, but they do receive a pre-set per diem.

Questions: SD 5, 6 (LA)

Q1: How can New Mexico improve access to physical and mental health care services?

Q2: What legislation would you support to reduce violent crime and improve public safety?

Q3: How can we protect New Mexico's economic future considering the reduced availability of water?

Q4: Do you support a paid legislature and/or longer legislative sessions? Why or why not?

Q5: What are the biggest problems facing New Mexico? How can they be addressed?

Questions: SD 8 (NM)

Q1: Why do you want to run for this seat?

Q2: How have your experience and education prepared you for this position?

Q3: What will be your highest priorities?

Q4: How can the legislature address water issues in an increasingly arid state?

Q5: What should the legislature do to improve public safety in New Mexico?

Q6: What, if any, changes to NM's tax structure do you support?

State Senator District 5

Leo Jaramillo

Democratic

A1: There are so many New Mexicans who do not have adequate access to healthcare and others who are finding themselves in medical debt. As a legislature, we need to expand and protect access to healthcare, including protecting pre-existing conditions, while also keeping out-of-pocket healthcare costs down. When it comes to mental health care, we need to treat it as we do physical health care. We need to embed behavioral health care specialists within the primary care setting.

A2: I would support legislation which prioritize rehabilitation programs to improve safety. Legislation which would establish incentives for eligible incarcerated individuals to participate in job and educational training, which has been proven not only to better prepare people leaving prison for the workforce, but also to reduce recidivism, save taxpayer dollars, and increase public safety. States like Minnesota and Ohio have seen an up to 20 percent drop in recidivism for people who participated.

A3: The state needs to develop a strategy which will require coordination with local, tribal, and federal partners to assist in developing new water through recycling and desalination while also improving all water management actions with better data, forecasting, conveyance, and administration of water rights. I believe it is critical that New Mexico must invest in water recycling projects.

A4: I support a paid legislature and served as the Senate Sponsor of the house bill two years ago which proposed a constitutional amendment which would provide legislative salaries. I believe that a paid legislature would make elected office more accessible to people of limited economic means which would help us diversify the House and Senate. I also support a longer legislative session. Longer session would allocate adequate time to write, debate and pass new laws.

A5: Affordable housing is a major issue we are facing in New Mexico. We must continue to invest in the Casa Connection Grant Program which provides housing for vulnerable populations, addressing homelessness and removing barriers to affordable housing. Fentanyl is also a major crisis; Increase access to mental health care and in preventing and treating opioid addiction, with funding for community-based prevention and treatment efforts, expanding health care instructor, and harm reduction services.

State Senator District 6

Roberto 'Bobby' Jesse Gonzales

Democratic

A1: To improve healthcare access in New Mexico: - Invest in healthcare facilities and tech statewide. - Expand telemedicine and broadband. - Offer incentives for providers in underserved areas. - Support small practices with reduced insurance requirements and streamlined regulatory processes. - Fund community health centers. - Promote health education and outreach. - Train providers in cultural competency. - Advocate for better insurance and Medicaid coverage for mental health and telemedicine.

A2: To reduce violent crime and improve safety in New Mexico, I support: - Funding law enforcement and community programs targeted regionally. - Ensuring repeat offenders are effectively incarcerated. - Expanding job training, substance abuse treatment, mental health services, and housing for those reentering society following incarceration. - Using evidence to guide crime policies and resource allocation. - Fostering trust and accountability between law enforcement and residents.

A3: To protect New Mexico's economic future amid reduced water availability: - Sustainable Development: Focus on projects like renewable energy and water-efficiency. - Infrastructure Investment: Upgrade water storage, distribution, and treatment systems. - Incentivize water-saving technologies and water management. - Economic Diversification: Support industries that use less water. - Public-Private Partnerships: Collaborate to enhance resource use and project efficiency.

A4: I support a paid legislature as well as longer sessions for effective governance. Paying legislators ensures diverse, equitable representation and allows legislators to fully commit to public service. Longer sessions provide time for thorough research, debate, and decision-making on complex issues, leading to well-informed policies. These measures enhance responsiveness and inclusivity in the legislative process, benefiting all New Mexicans with thoughtful and effective governance.

A5: Including healthcare access, water scarcity, and crime/public safety, New Mexico faces challenges that can be addressed through policies and cross-sector collaboration: -Education: Boost funding, enhance teacher training, and address disparities -Economic Diversification: Promote renewable energy, tech sectors, and support small businesses -Poverty & Inequality: Invest in affordable housing, healthcare, and job training -Infrastructure: Modernize roads, bridges, broadband, and public transport

Pete Campos

Democratic

A1: I hope to continue serving as a lifelong public servant which began as a boy scout leader. I thoroughly enjoy serving constituents and their needs.

A2: I am a lifelong public servant (servidor de la gente). I have served in numerous civic organizations and positions of leadership such as Chamber of Commerce President, Mayor, School Superintendent, College President and State Senator. I have a doctorate in Educational Leadership from UNM and hold a teacher, counselor and administrator license from the NM Public Education Department. A total of 27.5 years in education, 25 years in small business, 33 years as a State Senator (currently the most senior member of the senate).

A3: Health Care for All Education for All Good Paying Jobs for All Water/Environment/Community Infrastructure Resilient & Vibrant Economy for all rural & frontier communities

A4: I have been directly involved in resolving water issues as a civic leader, Mayor and State Senator for over 45 years. Strong water mapping and planning, adjudication, efficient water use, repair of acequias, dams, watersheds, community infrastructure, and more effective water holding, treatment, and distribution systems.

A5: This is a significant multi-prong and dominant issue. It's incumbent to fully support law enforcement officials and officers with the necessary resources to fully execute all facets of their responsibilities, review and update laws, ensure victim reparation, address the consequences of crimes by the offenders, that includes penalties, incarceration, probation, rehabilitation, mental and physical health, education and job placement with a support base when individuals are released and reintegrated back into society.

A6: A simple, streamlined, consistent tax system that makes it easier and more understandable when the general public and small business persons prepare to submit their tax information.

State Representative

In addition to other duties prescribed by law, representatives enact "reasonable and appropriate laws," represent the constituents of their district, and serve on standing or interim committees. The legislature meets each year beginning in January. In odd-numbered years, it meets for 60 days; in even-numbered years, it meets for 30 days. The Governor may call special sessions. Candidates must be at least 21 years old and must be a resident of the district from which elected. They serve a two-year term. Representatives do not receive a salary, but they do receive a pre-set per diem and mileage; there is also a pension program for legislators serving a minimum period.

Questions: HD 40, 42 (NM)

Q1: Why do you want to run for this seat?

Q2: How have your experience and education prepared you for this position?

Q3: What will be your highest priorities?

Q4: How can the legislature address water issues in an increasingly arid state?

Q5: What should the legislature do to improve public safety in New Mexico?

Q6: What, if any, changes to NM's tax structure do you support?

Questions: HD 41 (SFC)

Q1: What prior experience and/or education have prepared you for this position?

Q2: Why are you running for this position?

Q3: What would be your priorities for the next session?

Q4: What, if any, changes to New Mexico's tax structure would you support?

State Representative District 40

Diego Olivas

Republican

A1: I believe that it is time my generation steps up and starts making decisions about our future.

A2: I've had the unique experience of living a full life in a short period of time. I've been blessed to see and experience from the top 1% in Martha's Vineyard and the Hamptons to the bayous to the great plains. I've spent time with the people in these areas and learned the differences between them and what they need to survive.

A3: Helping New Mexicans with lowering taxes while finding ways at the state level that will help with rising inflation.

A4: By providing funding that will build infrastructure to build and maintain water storage facilities such as dams that will also provide new habitat for fish. I will also like to push legislation that will provide funding to allow New Mexican farmers and ranchers to build or purchase simple sprinkler systems that allow for a better yield with less water usage than traditional flood irrigation.

A5: Increase public safety funding to provide more officers, better equipment, and activate national guard to assist at the southern border.

A6: Abolishing fuel taxes, abolishing the gross receipts tax, and lowering income tax rates as well as adding a tax to companies that are not providing jobs in New Mexico but selling their products.

Joseph L Sanchez

Democratic

A1: I live in one of the poorest counties in the state. I want to create opportunity for my district along with all of New Mexico.

A2: I have real life experience with small business and working with different government agencies. I have run an electric utility that serves five counties and eight tribes. I have first hand experience working with people who are among the poorest of our state. I have served in this position for almost two terms now.

A3: Creating jobs and preparing our native New Mexicans to pursue and obtain those jobs. I will continue to support education, veterans, and our senior citizens.

A4: Pursue opportunities with water resources that have not been tapped while also providing our state with funding to be competitive when going through legal situations with other states.

A5: We need to keep criminals behind bars and stop the catch and release practices that recent policy passed by our state has implemented. We also have to support our law enforcement agencies.

A6: We need to change the structure to attract businesses to our state. Right now it is more attractive for these businesses to set their roots in our surrounding states.

State Representative District 41

Susan K Herrera

Democratic

A1: Susan's legislative achievements in six years are remarkable. After four years, she was appointed Chair of the Agriculture, Acequias & Natural Resources Committee. Susan is a key leader of Water law in the House and has worked to pass several bills allowing small towns and villages to access state and federal funds for public water projects. In 2024, the state funding for water projects in District 41 is authorized at $30 million. As a member of the Education Committee, she worked to raise salaries for teachers & legislative assistants.

She helped create the Rural Library Endowment Fund, now at $30.5 million. Susan ended a 20-year legislative battle to pass HR 132, reducing predatory commercial lending rates in NM from 175% to 36%.

A2: I decided to run for office the morning Donald Trump was elected. I knew we would need strong Democratic state legislatures to combat upcoming policies. We are at a turning point again this year, and the imperative is to elect President Joe Biden. After six years in office, I've learned to successfully steer key legislation through the legislative process. However, much work remains to be done. Water, drought, and climate change are the top priorities in my district and we must continue creating policy that changes our landscape. The underlying issue for most problems in my district and the state is poverty. And it will take thoughtful and carefully crafted legislation to bring about change.

A3: 1. To Increase state funding for clean & reliable drinking water for all citizens. 2. To increase waste-water systems to protect aquifers. 3. Address drug abuse and chronic behavioral health issues that destroy families. 4. To assist grandparents raising grandchildren. 5. School bus drivers, secretaries, cooks, and janitors work for a minimum wage of $12 an hour. These guardians of our children are an integral part of the education system and need our support. 6. Paid Family Leave. We must protect our most vulnerable workers with a state paid family leave policy. 7. Legislative modernization: salaried legislators, salaried staff and longer sessions. This constitutional amendment will create a stronger future for all New Mexicans.

A4: I think our film tax credit is too high and needs to be reduced. The gross receipts tax is outdated and needs to be revamped so that it is equitable and fair for all cities and counties, especially small rural towns and counties. The most successful tax reform for reducing poverty is the Child Tax Credit. I hope to co-sponsor legislation that increases the tax credit for our poorest families.

Public Education Commissioner District 8

Questions:

Q1. What experience qualifies you for this position?

Q2. What would be your three highest priorities?

Q3. Should there be a cap on the total number of state charter schools?

Q4. How should the PEC assess the financial stability of schools before authorizing or renewing a charter?

Michael M Taylor

Republican

The candidate has not yet responded.

Public Education Commissioner District 10

The Public Education Commission is a ten-person commission that is advisory to the Secretary of Education. The Commission authorizes and monitors all state-chartered charter schools. Commissioners must be 18 years of age, a United States citizen, and reside in the district he/she represents. There are four-year staggered terms. Districts 1, 4, 8, 9 and 10 are up for election in 2024.

Questions:

Q1. What experience would you bring to this position?

Q2. What would be your two highest priorities?

Q3. What programs or approaches, if any, should be developed to raise the graduation rate in the state?

Q4. Should there be a cap on the number of charter schools in New Mexico? Please explain.

Steven J Carrillo

Democratic

A1: Nine years on the Santa Fe Public Schools Board of Education - Proven success in leadership and the development and implementation of public school programs targeted at increasing student achievement. In the middle of my first term on the Public Education Commission - Completion of numerous education professional development programs. Collaborated with commissioners in increasing accountability standards for state authorized charter schools, updating policies and procedures, and making the PEC more transparent and accountable to all stakeholders. Santa Fe resident for 33 years. Son who attended public school and graduated from Santa Fe High.

A2: Increasing student achievement in the core subjects Holding the adults accountable that have failed our kids by allowing them to skate by with Ds and get their diploma. Providing increased school choice - Opportunities for students and families to find their best fit for program and school culture. In doing so, ensuring that the process to open a state authorized charter school remains very rigorous. As well, providing the oversight to make sure schools are performing at their highest level and keeping their commitments to families, kids, and taxpayers. And where a school demonstrates consistent underperformance, be willing to revoke their charter.

A3: It's NOT about graduation rates, It's about academic proficiency!

A4: No. The market determines the cap. As long as there is the need for schools that better meet the demands of kids and families, there should be charters that meet these needs. The education landscape includes district schools, local and state authorized charters, privates, parochial schools, home schooling, and virtual schools. There is immense competition in the education marketplace to attract and retain both students and staff. Those entities that continue to live in the real world and meet these needs will continue to grow and achieve success.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY

District Attorney 8th Judicial District

The District Attorney represents the government in the prosecution of criminal offenses. New Mexico has 13 judicial districts for which there is an elected District Attorney. ### Taos County Commissioner District 3

Darlene J Vigil

Democratic

Questions:

Q1: How have your experience and education prepared you for this office?

Q2: What are the biggest challenges facing the county?

Q3: How would you address them?

Q4: What should the county do to support economic development?

Q5: How would you propose to balance growth with water scarcity in an increasingly arid state?

A1: My career in public service began in 1983 at the Taos County Assessor's office, where I worked for 31 years. As Taos County Assessor from 2007-2014, I gained valuable experience in administration, budgeting and policymaking, allowing me to be more effective at advocating for the community of Taos.

A2: Housing shortage has been one of the biggest challenges along with affordable housing.

A3: Taos County and Town of Taos government leaders along with community leaders from private sectors have come together to stand up Taos Housing Partnership, a non-profit organization, Taos Housing Partnership that is working towards developing below market housing a tangible reality for the community of Taos.

A4: Taos County currently is using Community economic development has a process of addressing community economic problems – such as unemployment, or lack of employees, lack of affordable housing, or the lack of sufficient retail and other services – through project ideas, creativity, strategy and finding and mobilizing resources.

A5: Balancing growth with water scarcity is super challenging but very critical. Best practices for water conservation and management is key and in order to move in this direction ordinances must be created to assure that as growth inevitably happens these practices are in place and adhered too.

Taos County Commissioner District 4

AnJanette K Brush

A1: My work experience as a communications professional prepared me to think through and help manage the various communications tasks required in government work. Whether I'm providing information about projects and work the County is (or perhaps isn't) doing, or sharing constituents' concerns, or even when I'm expressing my own questions about policy, clear communication is the foundation for understanding and success. Through my work experience in the business world, I also bring a focus on effective project management, which is needed in government work as much as in any other work.

A2: Our biggest challenges facing Taos County are the lack of affordable housing, which is the foundation of a healthy community. Without it, we won't have the new entrepreneurs, healthcare and education professionals, or public safety workers we need. Additionally, we face a lack of substance use treatment facilities (detox, transitional housing), and a shortage of healthcare professionals (especially in the field of mental and behavioral health). Of course, the climate crisis is also a huge challenge that needs ongoing attention. We face ongoing drought, the increased risk of wildfire, and threats to our health and homes.

A3: I would address our biggest challenges by continuing the collaborative community work we've started during my first term: For housing, Taos County has a plan to build workforce housing on County land, and joined with the Town of Taos to start the Taos Housing Partnership, which is leading by providing homebuyer education and support. For social services, we prioritized support for an emergency shelter program and worked to get the location, funding, and partners to re-start a detox center (in progress). For the climate, we implemented a unique agreement to more efficiently access federal funds for protecting our forests and watersheds. We're also focusing on energy efficiency, starting with our own buildings and land use regulations.

A4: During my first term, I prioritized bringing back the position of Taos County Economic Development Director. The person we're now fortunate to have in this role has convened regional economic development summits, and has brought in grant funding for programs we are now running for youth internships in arts and technology. In addition to this ongoing work, I plan to support a plan for a one-stop business resource center to serve Taos County and the Town of Taos and our other municipalities. The business center will make the start-up path for entrepreneurs smoother, supporting their business strategy, licensing, and permitting.

A5: Growth comes in two forms: population growth and business or economic growth. For business growth, I propose we focus on industries that use little water or repurposed water, as agriculture does (where water used goes back into the aquifer). In terms of population growth, we desperately need new housing, but any new or retrofitted housing should implement water conservation measures. Taos County can help control both areas through our Land Use Regulations and Comprehensive Plan, both of which are being updated. I intend to keep a close eye on how they address housing and water sustainability.

JUDICIAL RETENTION

Judicial Retention Justice of the Supreme Court

There are five justices on the New Mexico Supreme Court, the highest court in the State. It is the court of last resort and has supervisory control over all lesser courts and attorneys licensed in the state. The Court is required to hear appeals from election challenges and criminal cases when a defendant is sentenced to the death penalty or life imprisonment. The Court has discretionary authority to review rulings of the Court of Appeals and questions of law certified to it by the Court of Appeals or federal court. Candidates must be at least 35 years old, have practiced law for ten years and have resided in New Mexico for the last three years. Justices are elected statewide for eight-year terms. Voters at a retention election may vote either "yes" or "no" for each individual judge for retention. To retain the office a judge standing for retention must receive 57% "yes" votes of all the votes cast on the question of retention.

Questions:

Q1: What qualifies you for this position?

Q2: What changes, if any, would you recommend to the NM Supreme Court practices and why?

Q3: What improvements, if any, are needed in the Supreme Court?

Briana H. Zamora

A1: As a judge, I have served at all levels of the judiciary from the Metropolitan Court to the Supreme Court. I have presided in thousands of cases and well over a hundred jury trials. New Mexicans deserve experienced judges who are independent and have integrity. I have a wealth of judicial experience and a reputation of integrity and fairness. I hope to continue my service to New Mexico as a Supreme Court Justice.

A2: The Supreme Court oversees every court and judicial program in New Mexico. Overall, the judiciary in New Mexico is first rate. However, there are two areas I hope to improve. First, improving the efficacy and efficiency in how the judiciary implements its behavioral health programs would benefit the entire state. Second, working to ensure there is access to legal representation for all New Mexicans, particularly individuals in our rural communities.

A3: The Supreme Court and its employees work tirelessly to issue opinions that are accurate, fair and timely. Lack of resources is our greatest challenge. The Court needs additional attorneys and paralegals to assist the Court in more efficiently issuing the Court's opinions, orders and Supreme Court Rules.

Judicial Retention Judge of the Court of Appeals

There are ten judges on the New Mexico Court of Appeals. It is the intermediate court between the district courts and the Supreme Court. Judges sit in panels of three. The Court reviews appeals in all cases, except criminal cases involving sentences of death or life imprisonment, and cases involving habeas corpus. Judges must be at least 35 years old, have practiced law for ten years, and have resided in New Mexico for the last three years. Judges are elected statewide for eight-year terms. Judicial vacancies are filled through appointment by the Governor from a list of nominees submitted by a judicial nominating committee. At the next regular election the judicial position is filled in a partisan election in which the appointed judge must participate and win the most votes to retain the seat. Judges serve for terms of a set number of years, after which they must win a retention election. Voters at a retention election may vote either "yes" or "no" for each individual judge for retention. To retain the office a judge standing for retention must receive 57% "yes" votes of all the votes cast on the question of retention.

Questions:

Q1: What qualifies you for this position?

Q2: What changes, if any, would you recommend to the NM Court of Appeals practices and why?

Q3: What improvements, if any, are needed in the Court of Appeals?

Judicial Retention Judge of the Court of Appeals Position 1

Jennifer Attrep

A1: I have nearly two decades of experience on the bench and in private practice. I have served as a Court of Appeals Judge since 2018 and currently serve as the Chief Judge. As an appellate judge, I have resolved hundreds of appeals in all areas of the law and assisted with Court administration. I previously was a trial judge in Northern New Mexico where I managed a varied docket, presided over thousands of cases, and held over 50 trials. Prior to joining the bench, I served as an appellate attorney and litigator in a variety of civil and criminal cases and clerked for a federal trial judge.

A2: The Court of Appeals is responsible for resolving the vast majority of appeals in New Mexico and, as a result, has a busy and heavy docket. The Court has made significant progress in resolving cases more quickly. Through the tireless efforts of staff and judges, the Court has cleared its backlog that had previously been amassed due to judicial turnover. The Court is dedicated to building on this progress and has adopted programs to increase efficiencies. The Court piloted a program that streamlines the appeal process, and recently implemented a program that provides free mediation services to more expeditiously resolve appeals. We are working to expand these programs and continue to explore other ways to better serve New Mexicans.

A3: The Court of Appeals is focused on expanding public access and improving Court administration. During the pandemic, the Court began allowing unrepresented parties to electronically file court documents; and we are working to expand electronic access for unrepresented parties. The Court will be publishing self-help materials that explain the appellate process and assist unrepresented parties and attorneys in meeting their obligations on appeal. We will be rolling out live-streaming to increase access to our proceedings. The Court of Appeals also is working to obtain needed funding to build its administrative team, so the Court is more efficiently and effectively run. The current lack of staffing greatly overburdens our staff and judges.

Judicial Retention Judge of the Court of Appeals Position 2

Shammara Henderson

A1: I have been a judge on the NM Court of Appeals since my appointment by the Governor in 2020. In that time, I have gained valuable experience as an appellate judge. Prior to becoming a judge, I had a diverse career practicing in both criminal and civil law. I practiced in both state and federal court at the trial and appellate level. I have dedicated my career to ensuring diversity and equity in the judicial system.

A2: We have worked hard the last several years to reduce the time it takes for us to rule on cases before our court. We currently have two pilot projects that have dramatically decreased the time to file opinions in our cases. One impacts our criminal cases, and we have seen our turnaround time dramatically improve. The other is our mediation program, which while new, has already helped with our civil cases. I am dedicated to continuing our efforts to reduce our caseload and find ways to ensure we are ruling on cases in a timely manner.

A3: The main issue that our court has faced is a lack of resources. It has been a priority of mine to ensure that we have more resources. We have used these resources to rebuild our administrative staff and building maintenance. Our priority as judges should be to focus on our cases and to do so, we need the proper resources to ensure our court functions at the level expected by the parties who appear before us. We still have some improvements to make, but we have done a lot to rebuild the past several years.

Judicial Retention Judge of the Court of Appeals Position 3

Megan Duffy

Nonpartisan

A1: I have served as a judge on the Court of Appeals for nearly six years now and gained tremendous experience from working on hundreds of cases involving a broad range of legal issues. I take care with every case to show the parties that we have fully and fairly considered the issues, and to impartially explain what the law says about the issue so the parties understand our decision. Before joining the Court, I had 10 years of experience as an attorney. I began my legal career as a law clerk of Justice Richard Bosson at the New Mexico Supreme Court.

A2: The Court of Appeals experienced tremendous judicial turnover from 2015-2022, which resulted in a backlog of hundreds of cases. My colleagues and I have worked hard for several years to clear that backlog and I'm happy to report that we have done so. Stability on the Court (no turnover in the last 2 years), was important to accomplishing this goal. In addition, we received some additional resources from the Legislature in the last few years, which allowed the Court to restart a mediation program, fill vacant positions, and work with retired appellate judges on a pro tem basis. That was a wonderful experience, and having a robust pro tem program could benefit courts, especially during periods of turnover.

A3: While we are proud of our work in clearing the backlog, the Court still wants to move cases faster through the court. We have set a goal of resolving 95% of all cases within 720 days, or just under two years. We have made tremendous progress in our time-to-disposition, but still have work to do. We have been working to obtain the resources we need (both funding and personnel), and piloting programs that we hope will allow us to resolve cases quicker, including (1) a revamped mediation program, (2) a pilot project for criminal cases that produces briefing earlier in the case, and (3) a speech-to-text program that allows us to review trials and hearings more efficiently.

Judicial Retention District Court Judge Eighth Judicial District Division 03

New Mexico's 33 counties are divided into 13 judicial districts. These are courts of general jurisdiction that hold jury trials in the following types of civil cases: tort, contract, real property rights and estate contests. District courts generally have exclusive jurisdiction over domestic relations, mental health, appeals for administrative agencies and lower courts, criminal appeals, and juvenile cases. Must be at least 35 years old, have practiced law for at least six years, and reside in the district from which elected. Six-year term. Judicial vacancies are filled through appointment by the Governor from a list of nominees submitted by a judicial nominating committee. At the next regular election the judicial position is filled in a partisan election in which the appointed judge must participate and win the most votes to retain the seat. Judges serve for terms of a set number of years, after which they must win a retention election. Voters at a retention election may vote either "yes" or "no" for each individual judge for retention. To retain the office, a judge standing for retention must receive 57% "yes" of all the votes cast on the question of retention.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Constitutional Amendment 1:

"Proposing an amendment to Article 8, Section 15 of the constitution of New Mexico to extend a property tax exemption, currently only allowed for one hundred percent disabled veterans and their widows and widowers, to veterans with less than a one hundred percent disability and their widows and widowers and basing the amount of the exemption on a veteran's disability rating."

ARGUMENTS FOR

1. Exemption would provide disabled veterans protection from rising property taxes. Allowing the property tax exemption for veterans with a permanent service-connected disability will support property-owning disabled veterans and their widowed spouses in an amount proportional to the percentage of the veteran's disability rating.
2. Expanding the property tax exemption sends the message that anyone who suffers a disability while serving in the armed forces deserves to be taken care of equally, regardless of the severity of the injury.
3. Expresses support of the state for veterans.
4. A decrease in property tax could provide an incentive for veterans of the armed forces to move to and buy property in New Mexico, which may increase the state's population and tax base.
5. The estimated cost of an additional annual per capita burden of $34.00 for the general population of the state is comparatively low to the benefit provided to the nearly 30,000 service-related disabled veterans with property tax liability in the state.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST

1. Exemption may benefit those who do not need financial assistance. If the purpose is to relieve the financial burden on those who are unable, due to their disability, to pay property taxes, then the exemption should target those with limited incomes.
2. Financial assistance is already available for disabled veterans through a number of programs. There are other social programs that disabled veterans may access to assist with living expenses. For instance, there are numerous state, federal and nonprofit programs that serve veterans.

3. Non-disabled-veteran property taxpayers will pay more due to exemption. By expanding eligibility for a property tax exemption, the property tax bills of other state residents will increase
4. A property tax is traditionally based on the value and nature of the property, not the personal characteristics of the owner. Creating an exemption for certain individuals is a departure from the underlying principle of property taxation and could set a precedent for other groups to seek a similar exemption.
5. The federal government should help disabled veterans, not the state. If voters believe that more compensation is due to disabled veterans and their spouses, then they should ask their representatives in Congress to address the issue.
6. Property tax benefit for veterans already exists in the Constitution of New Mexico.
7. Exemption excludes other property taxpayers who are disabled due to work-related injuries. There are many dangerous but necessary occupations with a high chance of disability from injury, so it is unclear why disabled veterans warrant preferable treatment in comparison to other disabled persons.

Constitutional Amendment No. 2

“Proposing an amendment to Article 8, Section 5 of the constitution of New Mexico to increase a property tax exemption for honorably discharged members of the armed forces and their widows and widowers.”

ARGUMENTS FOR

1. Reducing the property tax paid by honorably discharged members of the armed forces and their widowed spouses supports property-owning veterans and their widows or widowers and helps them maintain homeownership.
2. Increasing property tax exemptions for honorably discharged veterans demonstrates New Mexico's support for and appreciation of members of the armed forces who risked their lives and served their country honorably.
3. A decrease in property tax could provide an incentive for veterans of the armed forces to move to and buy property in New Mexico, which may increase the state's population and tax base.
4. By adjusting the amount of the exemption for inflation, the amount of the exemption for veterans will increase without requiring a future constitutional amendment, which is a challenging, lengthy and costly process.
5. The increased exemption amount is fairer to veterans and their spouses in 2024. The current exemption was set in 2002 and, since then, the value of the dollar has increased approximately 72% while property values have increased by approximately 80%.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST

1. Congress should be responsible for providing veterans' benefits. It is inappropriate for state and local governments to bear the expense of providing extended benefits to veterans in return for their service in a branch of the United States armed forces. If more generous benefits are due to veterans and their spouses, Congress should provide those benefits.
2. Exemption could benefit those who chose to enlist. Special property tax benefits should not be extended to someone who makes the choice to work in a branch of the United States armed forces.
3. Unfair to other property taxpayers who will pay more due to exemption increase. An increase in this property tax exemption will shift the tax burden, and the tax bills of all other New Mexico property owners will increase.
4. Tax relief measures should be based on need. There is no evidence that veterans have lower incomes or a greater need for property tax relief than other taxpayers. It is possible that, with the passage of the proposed constitutional amendment, veterans who are financially stable and who own large, high-value homes will be relieved from contributing their property tax share.

5. Exemption for special groups of property taxpayers could set precedent for other individuals to seek tax relief. Property tax is based on the value and nature of the property, not the personal characteristics of the owner. Creating an exemption for certain individuals is a departure from the underlying principle of property taxation and could set a precedent for other groups to seek similar exemptions.
6. The exemption amount benefits a portion of veterans as it only applies to owner-occupied residences that are used as a principal place of residency and will exclude veterans who are institutionalized, homeless or renters.
7. Inflation provision would increase property taxes even more for non-veteran property taxpayers. The proposal to index the amount of exemption for inflation may continue to erode the property tax base and annually increase the property tax bills for those who are not eligible for the property tax exemption.

Constitutional Amendment No. 3

“Proposing to amend Article 6, Section 35 of the constitution of New Mexico by allowing the dean of the University of New Mexico School of Law to appoint a designee to the Judicial Nominating Commission.”

ARGUMENTS FOR

1. The role of chair of the Appellate Judges Nominating Commission is primarily administrative. The Rules Governing Judicial Nominating Commissions outline the role of the chair and task the chair with the duties of announcing the existence of a judicial vacancy to the public and members of the commission, scheduling meetings of the commission and providing the media with notice of the meetings, preparing application packets and preparing agendas for meetings. These are not tasks that require the legal mind of the dean of a school of law, but even if they were, this proposed amendment ensures that there will be an esteemed legal scholar serving as chair of the commission.
2. The University of New Mexico School of Law serves a vital interest to the state by educating a vast majority of the attorneys who practice here since it is the only school of law in New Mexico. Beyond the normal duties of being the dean of a school of law, and the current requirement to serve as chair of the Appellate Judges Nominating Commission, the dean is also required by statute to serve as the chair of the Judicial Compensation Commission. Allowing the dean's designee to serve on the Appellate Judges Nominating Commission would relieve the dean of a commitment that could be performed by others
3. The dean of the University of New Mexico School of Law is already permitted to have a designee for important commissions, including the New Mexico Sentencing Commission and the New Mexico Compilation Commission. The dean is also required to appoint three members to the Public Defender Commission. Each of these commissions have functioned adequately without requiring the dean to attend every meeting. The dean should be allowed to appoint a designee

ARGUMENTS AGAINST

1. Potentially removes a neutral tie-breaking vote from the commission. When the Appellate Judges Nominating Commission was created, there was a desire to have a neutral person who could break any of the commission's tie votes. The legislature, which passed the joint resolution to create the commission, and the people, who voted to pass the constitutional amendment in 1988, believed that the dean of the University of New Mexico School of Law was the best person to put into this neutral tie-breaking role.

2. Could remove one of New Mexico's most prominent legal scholars from the judicial appointment process. The Appellate Judges Nominating Commission serves a vital role in New Mexico's judicial system by vetting and nominating candidates for the most prominent judicial positions in the state. The dean is tapped into New Mexico's legal community by virtue of being the head of the state's only law school. The dean's connections in the legal community could provide insight into the careers and backgrounds of the applicants that the commission vets.

Constitutional Amendment No. 4

“Proposing an amendment to Article 10, Section 1 of the constitution of New Mexico to provide that the salaries of county officers shall be established by the Board of County Commissioners, remove references to the First Legislative Session and clarify that any fees collected by a county official shall be paid into the treasury of the county.”

ARGUMENTS FOR

1. While it made sense for the legislature to set county officer salaries when the state was new, the counties are now longstanding, established entities that handle their own affairs without such close state guidance. is amendment is a measure to modernize the system to better reflect the realities of day-to-day governance. The current law only sets maximum salaries for county officers and already allows boards of county commissioners discretion in determining salary increases for their officers within the statutory limitations.
2. County officers manage complex bureaucracies and require executive experience and specialized skills to be effective on behalf of their constituents. To ensure that voters have the opportunity to elect qualified officers, counties need the flexibility to set salaries to attract experienced and skilled candidates. This amendment would allow counties to be more responsive to their own needs and provide for more professional management.
3. Constitutional and statutory safeguards exist to check the power of county commissioners in setting salaries. The constitution and laws of the state have measures that serve as a check on the powers of county commissioners in setting the salaries of county officers.
4. Will give voters more say in how their counties are managed. County officers are locally elected and directly accountable to their constituents. This amendment would localize salary decisions and make county officers more accountable to their constituents.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST

1. Without legislative oversight, county official salaries will be wide-ranging and inconsistent among counties. Pursuant to its current obligation to fix the salaries for county officers, the legislature has established a comprehensive classification system based on a combination of a county's population and the total value of real estate within the county. This system helps to ensure that salaries are uniform and proportional across the state. This proposed amendment empowers boards of county commissioners to establish officer salaries without any standards.
2. Removing legislature's authority could lead to negative consequences for counties. Allowing boards of county commissioners full discretion to determine salaries for their officers takes authority and power away from the legislature. The people of the state have an interest in the legislature retaining the power to set county officer salaries because it serves as a mutual check – it is a reasonable limit on counties' powers and requires accountability from the legislature.

3. County commissioners would set their own salaries. Currently, Article 10, Section 1 of the Constitution of New Mexico places the legislature in a neutral third-party role and provides assurances to the people of the state that county officer salaries are determined impartially. This proposed amendment may make these determinations more susceptible to short-term political or personal considerations.
